What Are Public Accommodations Protections?

As a Maryland consumer, your money and patronage are welcome at all publicly and privately owned and operated facilities. Together, Federal and State law declare that it is unlawful for an owner or operator, or agent/employee (of the owner or operator) of a place of public accommodation to refuse, withhold from, or deny to anyone the accommodations, advantages, facilities, and privileges of a place of public accommodation because of race, sex, age, color, creed, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or disability. (§20-304, State Government Article, Annotated Code of Maryland)

Applicable Federal & State Laws

MCCR is vested with the authority to investigate allegations of discrimination and enforce State law modeled after:

- Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 (as amended)
- Maryland Public Accommodations Law of 1974
- Americans With Disabilities Act Amendments Act of 2008

Over time and as it has become necessary, the laws have been amended to enhance protections and close loopholes.

Examples of Discriminatory Acts

It is often difficult to discern if you are a victim of discrimination. The following scenarios may provide you with the basis to file a Complaint of Discrimination:

- Refused a service or entrance to a facility, including a public restroom.
- Unable to access a facility due to your disability.
- Being subjected to different terms or conditions for services or facilities.
- Denial of your request for a reasonable accommodation due to your disability so that you can use and enjoy the place of public accommodation.
- Failure of the operator of the public accommodation to provide customers with adequate accessible parking spaces.
- Unable to access or a public restroom.
