Executive Director’s Report
The Executive and Deputy Director participated in training sponsored by EEOC on leadership. A part of that training was the importance of understanding/creating organizational core values. As a result of that training, the Executive Director determined that MCCR would greatly benefit from engaging in a process to identify its core values. Over the past few days, staff has gone through a series of facilitated exercises by the same facilitators from the EEOC training designed to help us identify our own core values.

In addition, MCCR is preparing to do an internal staff survey to evaluate the culture of MCCR. This survey will be an excellent gauge as to what the organization is doing well and how we can improve upon our overall environment.

General Counsel’s Report

- General Counsel added to the Deputy Director’s report on recreational cannabis. A major issue in Maryland is the law did not address cannabis in the workplace. There is very little case law that would provide guidance. Now that cannabis will be legal in Maryland, legislation and regulations must be drafted to address issues concerning cannabis and the workplace.
